Company Overview:

Achieving Breakthrough Results in Business Growth & Personal Transformation

Clear Intentions (CII) is an international people development company that offers executive coaching, leadership training and assessment services to professionals, public servants, global leaders and influencers who want to free themselves from lifelong emotional and mental patterns that prevent them from being truly exceptional. We also work with expatriates and global executives to refine their cross-cultural communications, especially across the borders of Germany, the United States and Israel. We currently provide executive coaching and leadership training in English, German and Hebrew.

At CII we offer a unique kind of brain-based executive coaching, one that combines coaching with neuroscience and its implications for change and leadership. This integrative way of executive coaching (Neuro Emotional Coaching™) creates instant breakthroughs in many areas of our clients' lives because not only does it provide insights and solutions, it removes any conscious or not-so-conscious emotional blocks to success. It creates emotional alignment between body, mind and heart and our clients' goals, dreams and aspirations.

Our prerequisite of a "perfect fit" between client and provider allows us to guarantee our services. You can rest assured that we will take care of your executive coaching and training needs with sensitivity, thoroughness, ingenuity and accountability.

Executive Coaching: Breaking through barriers to achieve measurable, unprecedented results in behavior, vision and leadership.

Executive coaching is an advanced style of leadership development that promotes excellence, innovation, creativity, resilience and breakthrough performance at all staff levels. Our coaching methods include several proven integrated and synergistic techniques that support leadership development, from recruitment to retirement. Regardless of the issue, from turnaround for poor performers to fast-tracking high potential employees, our results-oriented coaching will give your organization a competitive edge in today's ever-changing business world.

Assessments: Delivering a proprietary, online, 360° feedback evaluation, designed with sensitivity to culture, background and industry.

Our 360° feature is available in English and includes anonymous online surveys. Complete with a two-hour feedback session providing in-depth analysis, employees are left empowered with a detailed action plan to address the most essential areas for their development.

Leadership Training: Transforming communication in every domain of your organization and achieving increased productivity, employee loyalty and retention, and customer satisfaction.

Many companies talk about customized training and development—we deliver it. In order to fully understand your issues and truly customize our programs, we begin with a needs assessment. Once training is complete, we follow up to ensure that authentic and enduring change is taking place. Training can be complemented and reinforced in many ways, including individual or group coaching.
